

Special event to put spotlight on social issues in Halton Hills

You can help plan how best to effectively champion Halton Hills specific social matters by attending a special one-day workshop on Friday April 25, 9 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. at St. Andrew's United Church, 89 Mountainview Rd., S. in Georgetown.

Cost is $17, which includes lunch and refreshment.

The primary goal of the day is to give participants the opportunity to collectively identify and plan how best to increase the effectiveness of social services in Halton Hills and to connect with and be informed about local social issues, current services and existing organizations.

Mayor Rick Bonnette will speak about the background to the recently completed Integrated Community Sustainability Strategy (ICSS) and its support for social growth within our community. Councillor Clark Somerville will explain Halton Region's role in social services, while Damian Szybalski, Manager of Sustainability with the Town of Halton Hills, will highlight the goals of the Social Pillar in the ICSS.

Special keynote speaker will be Dr Joey Edwardh, Executive Director of Community Development Halton. She will give a detailed snapshot of social issues and services in Halton Hills.

There will be ample opportunity for participants to network and to share concerns and ideas.

What's in a pet food label?

Did you know that there are over 15 000 different pet foods on the market today? Did you also know that many of those pet foods were never fed to an animal by the manufacturer before being brought to the market? To make matters worse, there are very few laws and standards regulating the claims that a manufacturer can make about their pet food. There is also an incredible amount of misinformation out there on nutrition. No wonder it is so difficult to pick a quality food for our pets. Yet, we all know how important good nutrition is to the health and wellbeing of a body. Your veterinarian knows that every pet has different needs when it comes to their diet and takes into consideration the body condition, activity level, life stage/age and various diseases when they make a diet recommendation for your pet. Your veterinarian's goal is to promote lifelong health, and disease prevention and management. As part of that commitment, Mountainview Animal Hospital has invited a Pet Nutrition Advisor to our hospital on Thursday April 24, 2014 to answer any questions you have about pet food and nutrition. We invite you to stop by between 3:00 and 7:00 pm with your questions about nutrition in general or the veterinary exclusive diets that are available at Mountainview Animal Hospital.

Join us April 24th, 2014 from 3 - 7 pm to speak with our Pet Nutrition Advisor
