Georgetown girl selected as a 2014 ANNpower Fellow

A Georgetown girl has been selected as a 2014 ANNpower Fellow by ANN INC. the parent company of Ann Taylor and LOFT.

Lauren Smith is one of 50 girls to receive the honour. She's a Grade 10 French immersion student whose greatest passions are science, sports and helping in her community.

Smith volunteers at the local hospital and with the Mayor's Youth Action Committee.

The newly selected ANNpower Fellows hail from Canada, the U.S. and Puerto Rico and share a common interest in creating effective and sustainable solutions to challenges in their communities.

"I am thrilled with the innovative ideas and impressive talent that we have seen during this year's application period," said Kay Krill, President and CEO of ANN INC. "It truly goes to show how outstanding these 50 young women are to have risen to the top of such a competitive application pool, which has tripled over last year. They are fearless in their quest to make a difference in their communities and the world, and it is a privilege for ANN INC. to play a part in their path to leadership."

In January Ann Taylor and LOFT launched a nationwide campaign in-store and online to identify the next generation of female leaders and invite them to apply to become ANNpower Fellows.

Through the most competitive application process to-date, ANN INC., in partnership with Vital Voices, selected the 50 girls, all high school students, to become ANNpower Fellows. They will participate in the 2014 ANNpower Vital Voices Leadership Forum in Washington, D.C., June 16-19.

At the three-day ANNpower Vital Voices Leadership Forum, the 50 Fellows will undergo comprehensive leadership training from influential women leaders who are part of the Vital Voices Global Leadership Network, as well as executives from ANN INC., including Kay Krill. The forum's curriculum will equip the aspiring young leaders with the training and mentorship they need to realize their full potential as future leaders.

"The ANNpower Vital Voices Leadership Forum provides a unique opportunity to connect our fellows to a powerful network of women leaders from around the world. We encourage these talented leaders to break barriers and push for innovative solutions and progress in their communities as true change-makers," said Vital Voices President and CEO, Alyse Nelson.

Armed with the skills they learn at the ANNpower Leadership Forum, the Fellows will return to their communities tasked with creating projects to affect positive social change. Each Fellow will be eligible to receive an ANNpower Project Grant to put her ideas into action. To date, ANNpower Fellows have positively impacted more than 16,000 people in 12 countries around the world.
