After a long winter, vintage car and truck enthusiasts love to get their motor running and shine up the chariot for a fun event. Classics against Cancer has been the unofficial "doorway to summer" for car fans.

Classics against Cancer was initiated in 1988 by local businessman Neil Young and a dozen of his friends. The idea was to combine a classical concert with a car show as a backdrop to the music and park setting. The show returned in 1989 to become a yearly attraction for car fans. Little wonder with the first show drawing such choice vehicles such as a Model J Duesenberg and two vintage Ferraris including a rare Spyder model. The Duesenberg was a Pebble Beach Best in Show honours winner.

The driving force behind all these wonderful cars showing up is the battle against cancer. This year the proceeds go towards the Childhood Cancer Campaign.

For 27 years, Classics against Cancer car show has become one of the best known events in Southern Ontario with new ideas being added yearly. Attendance records have exceeded 5,000 in some years. The show averages 400 cars and receives 4,000 visitors annually. The committee has been able to raise nearly $500,000 since its first show.

This year the show is being managed by local business people Jamie Watt and Chris Crane.

"New blood into an old show," says Watt. "There has been a huge resurgence of interest in cars, vendors and people."

This year's event has a combination of tried and true favorites and some new entertainment. Time Trip is a live band that will be supplying music and Dan Wagstaff is Master of Ceremonies. The Kids Korner returns to provide fun and activities for kids big and small. Among the special attractions this year is a new C7 Corvette display presented by Da Silva Motorsports. People are urged to bring out their classic cars. Car gates open at 7:30 a.m. and it's open to the public at 8:30 a.m.
