

Norval resident and volunteer Sheila Carroll plants a tree at Willow Park on Saturday. She was one of the many volunteers who participated in the clean up day at the Willow Park Ecology Centre, led by Credit Valley Conservation and Willow Park Ecology Centre volunteers. The volunteers were helping to restore the park, devastated by December's ice storm, in time for this weekend's Riverfest event.

Riverfest-Norval returns on Sunday

On Sunday, June 15, from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m., the sleepy hamlet of Norval will come alive with family activities to celebrate the 40th anniversary of the Norval Community Association and Willow Park Ecology Centre's (WPEC) renewal from the ice storm damage.

The festivities in WPEC start at 11 a.m. and will include the day-long scavenger hunt, kids' instrument and drum-making, wooden animal painting for the fences, clay turtle painting, and painting and decorating of the little wooden paddlers. At 1 p.m., the youngsters will have opportunity to join the monthly drum circle and play the drums and shakers they made in the morning.

Starting at 1:30 p.m., the attention focuses on Norval Park. In Lucy Maud Montgomery Garden's Bandshell, Norval's own Jennifer Noble, along with Russell E. Williams, and the famous Ukrainian singers and dancers from the recently burned St. Elias wooden church in Norval provide musical entertainment.

The official opening ceremonies will take place at 2 p.m. as Reverend Paul Ivany of Norval United Church congratulates the Norval Community Association on its 40th anniversary. Michael Chong, MP, Ted Arnott, MPP, and Halton Hills Mayor Rick Bonnette will attend to show their support.

The day concludes in Willow Park by the river with the Children's favourite "Paddle to the Sea" race, where everyone gets a chance to race their boats and win a prize.
