Pumpkins is theme of Georgetown Fall Fair

Get your entries ready now

Most of us have happy memories of the pumpkins and the joys of the fall season. This year's Georgetown Fall Fair, Sept. 5-7, will highlight pumpkins and their many uses.

A fair is more than just one week-end. It involves the labours and craftsmanship of people who share their treasures with those of us who love to admire the artistry.

Revisions have been made to the 2014 prize book, and the Fair Fair Homecrafts Division invites you to find the articles that interest you and begin to work on your entries for the fair.

The Homecraft Advanced Prize List has been mailed to registered competitors but for those who did not receive a copy, it is available at www.georgetownfallfair.ca

If you have never made an entry in the fair before, then this is the time to start. For those who possess a "green thumb" or just a love of gardening, there are many different plant and flower categories. Perhaps vegetable or fruit gardening is more your style. Class 21 has 43 individual choices. There are 70 articles from which to choose in the baking and preserves class. Needlework and craft items offer a fascination as we combine some old and some new skills. With beauty in the eye of the beholder, get out your camera or dust off the antiques and share your treasures with us.

The items on the Children's Prize List and Teen Exhibit provide the perfect vehicle to pass those summer hours, learn a new skill or a hobby for a lifetime.

Entries may be brought to the fair building Wednesday, Sept. 3, 4-9 p.m. or Thursday, Sept. 4, 9-11:30 a.m. Children's entries must be made before 7 p.m. Wednesday night as judging for this class begins at 7 p.m.

If you need more information call one of the conveners or Elizabeth Taylor, 905-877-4726.
