

Local man named Growmark summer intern

Alex Richardson, an agronomy major in the Ontario Agriculture College at the University of Guelph is a participant in this year's Growmark summer intern program. He is the son of Doug and Vicki Richardson of Georgetown.

As an intern, Richardson will spend 12 weeks working for AGRIS Co-operative Ltd. He will complete a special project co-ordinated through the company.

Richardson and 53 other interns will meet in August at Growmark headquarters in Bloomington, Ill. to discuss their experiences and present a summary of their projects.

"Our internship program provides students hands-on experience in their field of study," said Ashley McClintock, Growmark university relations manager. "We hope it also provides them an opportunity to clarify their future career goals."

Growmark is a regional cooperative providing agriculture-related products and services, as well as grain marketing in 31 states and Ontario. Growmark owns the FS trademark, which is used by affiliated member cooperatives. The FS brand represents knowledgeable, experienced professionals acting with integrity and dedication to serve more than 250,000 customers. More information is available at www.growmark.com

Finding homes for youth

Bridging the Gap volunteers, from left, Harnoor Gill, Kristy Lynn Roberts and Dayton Bertrand recently manned the information booth at Home Depot in Milton. Bridging the Gap (BTG) is a voluntary program funded by the Region of Halton, serving Halton's homeless youth. It provides outreach services for Halton's homeless youth. It is an excellent resource for youth, ages 16-24, who are in need of help to learn about housing, financial assistance, food and hygiene supplies, education and work options.
