Williams Mill remembers WW1

A new and powerful art show, 'Rising... WW1 Remembered,' is being held at the Williams Mill Gallery.

The 100th anniversary of the First World War is being observed the world over. In Glen Williams, the Williams Mill Gallery is presenting an exhibition called, 'Rising... WW1 Remembered.' It features new work from Williams Mill Artists. Each piece displayed is an individual artist's interpretation of WW1 remembered. Beside each is a short narrative describing "Why."

One piece in particular needs no such narrative. As you enter the front door of the Gallery, a large portrait of a woman immediately captures your attention. Her story is told in a single tear, as it drops from her eye, so filled with pain and sadness.

The exhibition runs until Oct. 5. The Gallery is open from Wednesday to Sunday, from noon to 5 p.m. A reception will be held on Saturday, Sept. 27 from 1-4 pm. To celebrate the beginning of the Headwaters Art Festival Tour, The Williams Mill Visual Art Centre is open on Saturday, 10 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Doors Open on Sunday

This Sunday, Sept. 28, Williams Mill is participating in Doors Open. It is one of the destinations to see during the Glen Williams Heritage Tour. There will be a special display in the Education Centre depicting the history of the Williams Mill site over the last 150 years. Come for an informative discussion, some light refreshments, and a chance to see physical evidence of the many changes that have taken place.

In front of the Williams Mill Gallery, during the celebration of Doors Open, the Halton Hills Concert Band will be playing songs from the years of WW1, 2-4 p.m. — a memorable touch to an eventful weekend.
