

Legal matters surrounding the application are ongoing

Continued from pg. 4

are agri-business and they are to be encouraged for the rural economy,” said Stull. She also said under the mineral aggregates section it’s stated, “final rehabilitation shall be required to accommodate subsequent land use.”

She added based on the provincial statement regarding prime agricultural areas it’s required that their land be rehabilitated back to agricultural condition.

She stressed that their plan to rehabilitate the bowl in the middle of their Eighth Line property has now been reviewed by an agrologist and submitted that plan to the committee.

Somerville said the Stull application presented at the meeting was the latest one that had just been provided to the Town a couple of weeks ago and calls for the same amount of fill to be brought into the property in a phased plan as the original plan they submitted last year.

He said the committee has made a decision on the Stulls’ original application—it refused it (last year), and Council turned it down as well. Site Alteration Committee voted to receive the information provided by Stull. In 2012, fill was imported into the Stull property in contravention of the Site Alteration Bylaw forcing the Town to issue a cease and desist order.

However, the trucks continued until the Ontario Superior Court of Justice ordered at a hearing in November 2012 that there be no further importation of fill or any other material to the property pending the return of the application or further order of the court or the granting of a variance, amendment or exemption to the Site Alteration Bylaw. Only then did the Stulls’ company apply for a variance to the Site Alteration Committee in December 2012. The Stull’s application was turned down by both the committee and council in May 2013 and they are set to be back in court on the matter in March.

Steve Grace, the Town’s Manager of Development and Traffic Engineering, said after being denied their site alteration permit, the Stulls “started an action against the municipality.” Those matters are still before the court, said Grace.

“They are asking the court to overturn council’s decision (to allow them to import material), and they also have some other concerns about our enforcement of our traffic control bylaw and stand-alone aggregate uses planning study,” said Grace. Those matters will be heard in March.

Halton.ca 311

Attention: Small Business Owners!

Join other small businesses for an educational and networking session about how to leverage the internet for increased business success.

G.R.O.W. Your Business – Getting Results Online Workshop

Date: Wednesday, October 15, 2014

Time: 8:00 a.m. – 1:30 p.m.

Place: Harbour Banquet & Conference Centre, Oakville

Cost: $40.00/person

Two streams of break-out sessions focusing on Getting Results Socially and By Design. Getting Results “Socially” will focus on social media channels and what is being used by businesses. Getting Results “By Design” will focus on web design essentials and how to get more leads from your website.

There will also be a lunch presentation on “Building Your Marketing Toolkit.”

Speakers:

Session Presenters: Steve Loates and Amy Douma, e-Commerce Essentials

Lunch Speaker: Lisa Kember, Constant Contact

For more information visit www.haltonsmallbusiness.ca

To register: dial 311; outside of Halton: 1-866-442-5866

New map showcases exceptional opportunities for cycling in Halton

Halton Region recently published a new cycling map, showcasing eight spectacular cycling routes across the Region, ranging from 36 km to 100 km. Whether it’s mountain biking, cycling as a family or track cycling at the new Mattamy National Cycling Centre in Milton (opening soon), there’s something for cyclists of all skills and ages in Halton.

Enjoy everything Halton has to offer in your own backyard! For detailed route information or to order a print copy of the new cycling map, please visit us online at Halton.ca/cycling or dial 311.

Please contact us, as soon as possible, if you have any accessibility needs at Halton Region events or meetings.

021014

TOWN OF HALTON HILLS

Voter Information Notices

Halton Hills 2014 Municipal Election

Watch for your Voter Information Notice

Voter Information Notices for the 2014 Halton Hills Municipal Election will soon be arriving in your mailbox. All eligible voters listed on the Town’s Voters List will receive a Voter Information Notice.

The notice outlines the place and time where you can vote during Advance Voting Days and on Election Day, October 27th.

You can check to see you if you are on the Voters List by visiting the Town’s website at www.haltonhills.ca

Every voter MUST show a form of identification to be eligible to vote. A list of acceptable identification is listed on your Voter Information Notice and also can be found on the Town’s website at www.haltonhills.ca

PLEASE REMEMBER TO BRING YOUR VOTER INFORMATION NOTICE AND YOUR IDENTIFICATION WITH YOU TO YOUR VOTING LOCATION.

104

1 Halton Hills Drive, Halton Hills, ON L7G 5G2

Tel: 905-873-2600 • Fax: 905-873-2347 • www.haltonhills.ca