LEARNING NEW STRATEGIES

A diminished social life is one of the most difficult aspects of age related hearing loss. Many people avoid drawing attention to their hearing loss by having fewer social contacts when it becomes difficult understanding what is being said. The result is an altered and lonely existence that family and friends may mistake for dementia.

Learning new strategies to cope with hearing loss could go a long way to restoring confidence and improving communication. The Hearing Clinic recommends the following: Inform people of the hearing loss so they may modify their speech; eliminate background noise; watch the speaker carefully and sharpen natural lip-reading abilities; ask the speaker to repeat what was said if necessary, and above all else; have your hearing thoroughly tested and properly fit with one of today's modern hearing instruments. Contact The Hearing Clinic if you or someone you know needs assistance.

Absolutely Acton speaker series begins this weekend

Absolutely Acton Speakers' Series launches its 2014-15 season at the Acton Town Hall Centre, 19 Willow St. on Sunday (Nov. 30).

Dr. Dot Tuer is the guest speaker at 2 p.m. on the "Art of the Americas, 1920-2014: Colonial Legacies and Future Utopias". A dessert reception follows.

Tuer is the Chair of Visual and Critical Studies at the Ontario College of Art and Design (OCAD). Her research focuses on Canadian and Latin American art and photography of the contemporary and modern periods. Her current writing and collaborative projects address the relationship of social memory to witnessing and political agency.

On Sunday, Feb. 8 at 2 p.m. the guest speaker will be Mark Engstrom on "Salvaging the Grandeur of a Blue Whale". On Sunday April 12, journalist Martin Stringer will be the special guest speaker, on "Covering Canada's Parliament: The Good, the Bad and the Ugly".

Tickets for each of these speaking engagements are $20 adults and $15 students, or more information go to info@actontownhall.com or phone 519-853-5302. Tickets also available at the Acton library.
