

ALC gets $81,000 Trillium grant

Hillsview Active Living Centre – Georgetown campus is receiving an $81,000 grant from the Ontario Trillium Foundation (OTF).

The three-year grant will be used to hire a part-time volunteer coordinator.

“Our thanks go out to the Trillium Foundation for this generous support,” said Wellington-Halton Hills MPP Ted Arnott said. “The Hillsview Active Living Centre (formerly Halton Hills Senior Centre) is an important part of our community, and I want to express my appreciation to everyone involved.”

Heather Beaumont will now be a permanent, part-time staff member at the Centre working Tuesdays, Wednesdays and Thursdays at the Georgetown site (318 Guelph Street Unit 9.)

One of her responsibilities will be the creation of a volunteer management /training program. It’s expected that it will ultimately benefit more than 800 older adult members at the Centre, as well as others in the community, such as isolated adults and members of diverse populations in Halton Hills.
