Georgetown Bach Chorale presents Music for Lent

It has been a long, cold, dark winter— too much snow, too much ice, and too much hibernating inside the house!

Come out on Saturday, Feb. 28 to the Helson Art Gallery, 9 Church St., Georgetown at 7:30 p.m. and allow your soul to be blanketed in the warmth of music from the past with the Georgetown Bach Chorale.

This concert begins with the solemn Kyrie from Mozart's Mass in C minor, featuring soloist Celine

Moore. Tenor soloist Marcel Van Helden will perform 'Where Yee Walk' from Handel's opera, Semele, and Ron Greidanus, conductor of the Chorale and world-class pianist, will present Bach's Concerto No. 7 in G minor.

The final two works on the program are Lotti's rarely performed Credo and the Pergolesi Stabat Mater. The latter work is a collection of hopelessly sad pieces that were composed by Pergolesi in a monastery shortly before he died of tuberculosis at the age of 26. These haunting pieces reflect on the suffering of Mary as she watched her son suffer and die on the cross— perfect music to reflect upon during Lent.

Tickets are $35 for adults and $10 for students, and are available at FoodStuffs in downtown Georgetown, Pat's Prime Cuts and Deli in Georgetown South, and at the Holland Shop in Acton. Tickets can also be reserved by calling 905-873-9909.

... Lend Me Your Ears

WHAT SHOULD I EXPECT FROM HEARING INSTRUMENTS!

Part 2

* Understanding speech is a brain function and although the hearing instruments will give your brain the tools it needs to understand speech, it takes training and patience to improve your ability to understand.

* Different listening situations will offer different abilities to understand. Noisy situations are harder to hear conversation even for normal hearing individuals; hearing instruments should improve your ability, but will not allow you to perform as a normal hearing individual.

* Many sounds that you hear will sound different, or more distinct, to you. This is because your diminished hearing over a long period of time has trained your brain to accept the slight differences in the sounds you normally hear. Wearing hearing instruments will bring back the original sounds as they should be heard, although different to you. With time your brain will accept the new changes to these sounds.

* Hearing instruments should allow you to understand speech better in most situations than without your hearing instruments.
