Elvis returns to Acton

By Melanie Hennessey
Special to The IFP

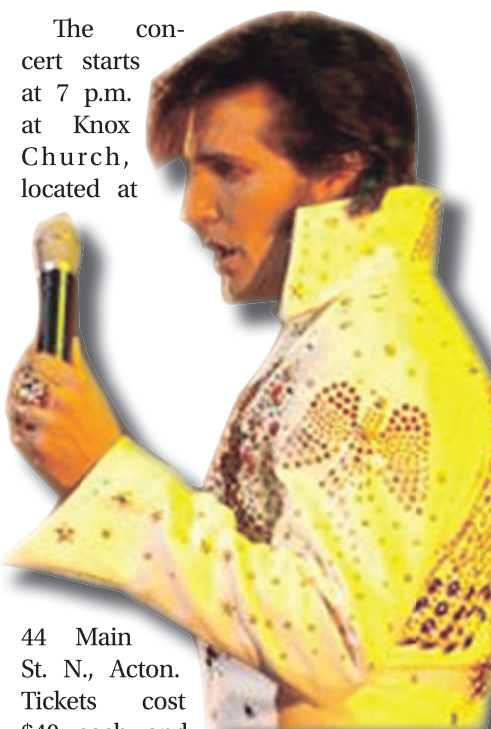

The King of Rock and Roll will soon be shaking his way back into Halton Hills.

One of North America's top Elvis tribute artists, Steve Michaels, is set to hit the stage at Knox Presbyterian Church in Acton for an intimate evening on Saturday, April 25.

The concert, which is becoming a much-anticipated annual event, will include a mix of both Elvis' rock and gospel hits, bringing the flavour of his music from the '50s, '60s and '70s.

Milton native Michaels— better known locally as Stephen Kabakos— has been performing as the King of Rock and Roll for almost 20 years. Over the past two decades he's been recognized as one of the most authentic Elvis tribute artists around, earning him international awards, fame and praise.

That global appeal is what led to a recent change in his stage name as many international fans struggled with the last name "Kabakos." While he may be performing with a slightly different moniker now, Michaels will undoubtedly deliver the same high-quality, memorable experience that local audiences have enjoyed for the past several years.

The concert starts at 7 p.m. at Knox Church, located at 44 Main St. N., Acton. Tickets cost $40 each and are available to purchase by calling 519-853-2360, 519-853-0318 or 519-856-9981. Refreshments will be served.
