Cycling Challenge to shoot for the moon

The Town of Halton Hills has announced an ambitious goal for the third-annual Community Cycling Challenge, a unique community program designed to promote a more physically active and engaged citizenry.

This year's goal is 384,000 km, which is equivalent to the distance of the Earth to the moon. The goal was announced at a special Cyclepalooza kickoff event on April 11.

Last year, thanks to the cycling efforts of 827 participants, the Town surpassed its 300,000 km Community Cycling Challenge over the course of the summer.

The Halton Hills Community Cycling Challenge is different in that there is no cost to join and participants do not do any fundraising. However, when the 384,000-km goal is reached, $62,500 will be donated by sponsors to the Georgetown Hospital Foundation.

When the community reaches 200,000 km, $22,500 has been pledged Georgetown Hospital Foundation by the following businesses.

- Georgetown Canadian Tire - $20,000
- Ollie's Cycle and Ski - $1,000
- Young Dentistry - $1,000
- Betty D'Oliveira, Realtor - $500

When the community reaches 384,000 km, an additional $40,000 has been pledged to the Georgetown Hospital Foundation by:

- The Peter Gilgan Foundation/Mattamy

Homes - $25,000

- Georgetown Terminal Warehouse - $5,000
- PwC Epic Tour Halton - $5,000
- Superior Glove - $2,500
- CPI Canada Inc. - $2,000
- HealthSpan Wellness - $500

The grand total pledged is $62,500.

"I am grateful that we were able to find generous businesses that support active living and our local hospital," said Regional Councillor Jane Fogal, who also chairs the Bicycle Friendly Community Committee. "After four months of fun cycling, our residents will be fitter and the Georgetown Hospital Foundation will receive an amazing $62,500! If ever there was a win-win, this is it."

Organizers are looking for Town residents, regardless of age, to ride their bicycles as much as possible during the 2015 cycling season and submit their achievements to a website designed especially for the Halton Hills Challenge, www.haltonhillsbikechallenge.ca. There is an option on the website that allows registration as a family unit.

Once again participants will be able to set a personal goal and track their progress as well as the community's running total. Anyone can check on the community total at any time by logging onto the website. Previous years' participants are reminded that they must sign up again at the new website address.
