IN BRIEF

Hospital gets new hardware

Halton Hills residents can access extensive breast cancer services, including screening, assessment and surgical support, at their community hospital. Halton Healthcare's Georgetown Hospital (GH), which is already an Ontario Breast Screening Program Assessment site, has recently acquired a Digital Mammography Unit.

The hospital unveiled a new mammography room complete with a new Siemen's Inspiration Digital Mammography system as part of the Georgetown Hospital Redevelopment Project.

"Digital Mammography allows us to capture the breast image in a digital picture format so we can then review it on a computer," explains Dr. Jillian Feberwee, Halton Healthcare's Women's Imaging Lead. "It provides us with the ability to manipulate the image—adjusting its contrast, brightness and magnification levels—until we get the clearest view. Digital Mammography also has a number of attributes that may help a small breast tumor stand out from surrounding normal tissue."
