Help out Mother Nature

Are you interested in protecting the natural environment and creating positive change in your community? If so, you are invited to join the Hungry Hollow Street Team.

Launched by P.O.W.E.R's 'vectorIAS' Invasive Species program, this local Street Team is your chance to protect biodiversity in the Hungry Hollow ravine system, by helping to control invasive non-native plant species.

Healthy biodiversity provides us with clean water, air to breathe and a place to be active and connected to nature. The Credit Valley Conservation Authority has designated Hungry Hollow as a 'Centre for Biodiversity,' worth protecting because of its special wildlife inhabitants and relatively untouched ecology.

Recently, the Town of Halton Hills created a trails system so that the residents may explore and enjoy the interesting and beautiful natural space without disturbing the habitats of local wildlife. Invasive species
