Teen to shave head for Addison's Wish Foundation

Georgetown District High School student Hailey Robinson will be shaving her head on Thursday, Oct. 29 during fourth period (12:49 p.m.) in the school cafeteria.

Proceeds will be going to the Addison's Wish Foundation. Seven-year-old Addison Rolke passed away in June after a short battle with cancer.

Hailey met the Rolke family just over two years ago when she started babysitting both Addison and her nine-year-old sister Alicia.

Over the past couple years, Hailey built a special connection with both girls and after Addison's passing Hailey wanted to do something special in Addison's memory, and decided on the head shaving fundraiser.

"I figured that if Addison could go through the battle that she did, then I can go without hair to make another child happy by receiving a wig," said Hailey. "Addie was very special to me and it is a cause that is near and dear to my heart."

Hailey has already raised over $700 by collecting from her peers and family and has set up a GoFundMe website so she can hopefully reach others. Here is the link <https://www.gofundme.com/addisonswish>

Funds raised through Addison's Wish Foundation will be directed to charities that provide support for families with hospitalized children and cancer prevention.
