Trafalgar Sports Park vandal charged, RIDE continues success

A Cheltenham teen was arrested and charged with mischief Monday evening after a passerby noticed a vehicle spinning in circles on a soccer field at Trafalgar Sports Park.

Police responded to the call and arrived to find the vehicle still performing "donuts" on the grass field. Two people were in the vehicle at the time.

Damage to the field is estimated at $15,000.

Charged with mischief over $5,000 is 19-year-old Adrian Krawcow. He was released on a promise to appear in court.

RIDE spot checks have been out in force during the holidays in Halton Hills and a Georgetown man is facing impaired driving charges after being stopped just before midnight on Dec. 23.

A vehicle traveling southbound on the Tenth Line in the area of 10 Sideroad was pulled over by an officer, who detected the odour of alcohol while speaking with the driver.

Charged with impaired driving and exceeding the blood-alcohol limit is Ryan Bigg, 23.

Sometime during the weekend of Dec. 19-20, an unknown number of suspects broke into Holy Cross Elementary School on Maple Ave. in Georgetown and ransacked three offices.

School officials can't confirm whether anything was taken during the break-in.
