Country star George Canyon brings tour to Norval on Friday

Canadian country legend and multiple JUNO Award winner, George Canyon, who released his brand new album, I Got This, in February, will be making a stop in Georgetown on Friday, March 18 at Nashville North in Norval.

I Got This marks the 11th full-length release for Canyon in a career that spans nearly two decades and boasts several Gold-certified records including his debut release Classics and the Richard Marx-produced Better Be Home Soon.

A Nova Scotia native, Canyon was recently inducted into the Nova Scotia Country Music Hall of Fame and has been widely decorated with numerous JUNO, CCMA and ECMA Awards including the CCMA "Humanitarian of the Year" Award in recognition of his philanthropic endeavours as both the national spokesperson for the Juvenile Diabetes Research Foundation and a vocal advocate and supporter of the Canadian military.

He has had a widely successful music career since nearly winning the U.S. national TV competition, Nashville Star in 2004.

Canyon's stop at Nashville North is part of a coast-to-coast Jekyll & Nothing to Hide tour.

Doors open at 8 p.m. For details go to www.NashvilleNorth.ca
