Wellington-Halton Hills MPP Ted Arnott has won reelection in his riding with a landslide 31,659 votes.

The Conservative MPP has been the provincial representative for Wellington, and subsequently Wellington-Halton Hills for over 28 years.

Arnott won again against NDP candidate

Diane Ballantyne, who received 14,087 votes, Liberal candidate Jon Hurst, who received 7,492 votes and Green party candidate Dave Rodgers who received 5,066 votes.

"The winds of change have swept across Ontario," said Arnott, smiling to the crowd inside the Fergus Curling Club as they chanted "Ted, Ted, Ted."

He thanked his supporters, organizers and family for the continued support.

"It inspires me to get back to work tomorrow morning," he said.

"Across Ontario, there are good people that have been elected, and there are good people who have been defeated," said Arnott, adding that his opponents "are no longer our opponents, they are John, Diane and Dave."
