DESJARDINS AGENTS SUPPORT FOOD4KIDS

VERONICA APPIA

When insurance agent Mike Francis of Georgetown was asked to nominate a local charity or government organization for Desjardins' Better Things Community Grant this year, choosing Food4Kids was a no-brainer.

Both a member of the local Kiwanis Club and founder of the Head for the Hills craft beer festival, Francis has been involved with the organization since it first moved to Halton Region.

Food4Kids works during the school year, as well as through summer months, to provide healthy meals for children in town, as well as across Ontario, who may be without, or have limited access to, food at home.

During the school year in Halton Hills, Food4Kids serves more than 90 students.

"I am passionate about the cause," Francis said.

"You don't want to hear about kids who come to school without food in their bellies."

Through the Better Things Community Grant, Desjardins Group chooses 20 recipients to receive a portion of funds. These recipients must work to address safety issues, promote healthy lifestyles, improve financial well-being or support education and youth.

This year, 137 organizations were nominated. Both Francis, as well as a Niagara Region agent, selected Food4Kids and received a total grant of $2,500 to $5,000, which will be allocated to each area.
