CARR, Robert
 September 4, 2012
 In loving memory of a loving husband, dad, grandpa, papa and great-grandpa.

In Loving Memory

John J. Pittman
 August 30, 2015
 Thank you God, for lending me, My beloved husband John.
 Although he passed so swiftly I thank you, Lord That you took him to be with Shawn.
 Pain and grief endure, Cherished memories to spare The longing is not the only thing that seems to be still there.
 His smiling eyes and sunny smile I shall never forget. Often through the silent mist, I can see him smiling yet.
 Dear God I often wonder, And I'm going to ask You why, The thorns just keep on growing But the roses always die.
 John was strong and healthy And he really loved to live. He loved life and new adventures And he had a lot to give.
 His wit and sense of humour Often we recall. Driving wherever, and in the dark of night We miss him most of all.

As we walk life's road without him, We often speak his name. We do go on and try to smile But life has greatly changed.
 He'll live in my heart forever And memories will keep him near. To know him was to love him To lose him has brought such pain. But somewhere beyond the sunset I know we'll meet again.

Everlasting love, my dearest John. Till we meet again, I love you always.
