

MUNICIPAL ELECTION

McLaughlin.

Adams and McLaughlin are parents of young children in Acton and advocate for greater recreational services and programs for youth.

Duncanson is a retired drag racer who used to travel across the U.S. in the snowmobile racing circuit. He wants to rejuvenate Fairy Lake in Acton in order to draw more visitors.

In Ward 2, long-standing councillors Ted Brown and Bryan Lewis are fending off their positions from Geoff Maltby, a farmer whose family has been in the area for generations.

Lewis is the former director of officiating for the NHL, and consistently speaks up for his rural constituents while sitting on council.

Ted Brown is a retired photographer from The IFP, with decades experience serving Halton Hills in various capacities.

He writes a regular column with the local newspaper and tends his family farm, with roots dating back to 1826.

Dave Kentner and Moya Johnson are vying for re-election in Ward 3, running against new candidates Randy Kerman, Patrick Cryan and Wendy Farrow-Reed.

Reed.

Kentner lives in a quaint cottage house on the very street his family settled on in Georgetown, and has run a catering business in town for decades.

Johnson has been on council since 1994 and has worked in health care for the majority of her life.

Patrick Cryan is the youngest candidate running for council, at 23-years old, he is passionate about bringing the community together and fighting for increased mental health awareness.

Kerman is a downtown Georgetown businessperson with over 32 years experience in the financial industry.

Wendy Farrow-Reed is a woman about town, volunteering with a slew of organizations like the legion, local funeral home and more. She is the former head of the BIA.

In Ward 4 incumbents like Bob Inglis and Ann Lawlor and looking to win re-election against a slew of applicants.

Inglis is a retiree of Moldmasters in Georgetown, who is advocating for the development of a 401 business corridor that will infuse the Georgetown economy.

Lawlor is a former communications and marketing specialist who has worked to preserve the Devereaux House, as well as the Dominion gardens in town.

New to the scene are Kim Roy, Abe Verghis, D'Arcy Keene and Ron Norris. Roy is a project manager at a tech company who feels passionate about sensible development. Verghis is an engineer who is working with a company that is developing roadside drug testing for marijuana. He has an expertise in traffic flow and safety.

Keene is an entrepreneur who runs an overhead-door business and is fighting to keep Georgetown the quaint town that it currently is.

Ron Norris is an avid volunteer with his local church and says that Norval needs a traffic solution ASAP, firstly, eliminating left turns at the intersection.

The municipal election will be held on Oct. 22, with a number of debates held in advance.

... Lend Me Your Ears

TWO MORE REASONS TO QUIT!

Exposure to cigarette smoke may hasten hearing loss as you grow older. Monitoring more than 3,500 people between the ages 48 and 92 for 3 years, University of Wisconsin Medical School researchers found that smokers were almost twice as likely as non-smokers to have trouble hearing. Some scientists think cigarette smoke has a toxic effect on inner-ear cells, while others believe it may constrict blood flow to the inner ear.
