

GIFT WRAPPERS READY TO HELP AT GEORGETOWN MARKET PLACE

Don't have time to wrap your presents? Do you think you are all thumbs?

A group of volunteers in the Georgetown Market Place is happy to wrap and put bows on your Christmas gifts until Christmas Eve. A free-will donation is requested for the service.

Part of the proceeds go to the Bennett Centre's Angel Fund that assists in paying for special outings for elderly residents. Last year $2,000 was donated to the program while another $1,000 was raised for the Georgetown Bread Basket Food Bank.

Over the year, CASHH, the Salvation Army Kettle Drive, the Hospital Fund, the Veteran's Poppy Fund have benefited from the gift wrapping, as well as youth from the Georgetown Christian Reformed who attend leadership training and SERVE pro-

100 WOMEN WHO CARE HALTON HILLS PRESENTS CHEQUE TO GEORGETOWN BREAD BASKET

On Dec. 12, 100 Women Who Care Halton Hills, represented by committee members Sarah Burrows, Heather Coles, Lori Gysel and Jill Farrington, presented a cheque for $5,600 to Georgetown Bread Basket board chair Lori Brading and treasurer Bruce Sutton.

The money donated by the founding members at their inaugural meeting in November made it possible for the food bank to replace a broken freezer and fill it with turkeys, just in time for Christmas. 100 Women Who Care Halton Hills will meet again on Feb. 13, 2019 at the Club at North Halton. Nominations for charities and not-for-profit organizations to be considered at that meeting will be accepted until Jan. 30, 2019.

For more information on membership and how to nominate an organization go to <https://www.100womenhaltonhills.com>.
