No one was injured in a house fire on Russell Street in Georgetown that caused approximately $300,000 in damage.

Fire was rolling out of the garage of the two-storey home when the Halton Hills Fire Department arrived on scene. Firefighters brought the fire under control, but the garage and balcony above the garage sustained considerable damage.

None of the four members of the family living in the house were home at the time of the fire. Firefighters safely removed two pets, a cat and a dog, from the house.

The fire is believed to have been caused by an electric space heater in the garage.

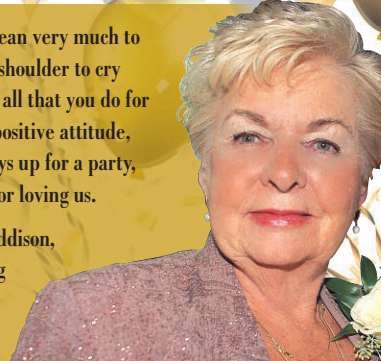

The Halton Hills Fire Department reminds residents to make sure extension cords are properly rated, that any combustible material is at least three feet from a space heater and that space heaters should never be left unattended.
