A special public meeting will be held to start the Official Plan 2041 process. Municipalities are required to update their Official Plan at least every five years, in accordance with Sections 17 and 26 of The Planning Act. Your input and insight will help inform and shape the new Plan.

We are undertaking the creation of a new Official Plan for the Town of Caledon that will take us to 2041 and we are interesting in hearing your comments and thoughts on this process.

WHAT IS AN OFFICIAL PLAN?

An Official Plan is a legal document containing goals, objectives, and policies intended to guide land use, development and growth in a municipality.

WHY ARE WE REVIEWING IT?

It is now time for us to review the Official Plan to ensure that the policies are in conformity with the latest provincial policies and the Region of Peel Official Plan. As part of this process the review will also look at the Town's strategic goals, to ensure they reflect the vision and needs of the community.

Georgetown District High School student Ariel Gladwish has fallen in love with the skilled trades, but there's just one thing she would change about the industry: The ratio of men and women taking on these roles.

The Grade 12 student has made it her goal to introduce more young women to welding, manufacturing, auto tech, wood-working and robotics, by planning and running the first-ever Women in Tech Day, held at her high school last week.

"I've been taking technology classes for the last four years I've been in high school and I've really enjoyed it and have learned so many hands-on skills that you just can't get anywhere else," she said.

Georgetown District High School's tech department is the largest in the Halton board. Paul Barnes, a professional welder who started the welding program there nearly 10 years ago, says each year he usually gets three female students out of a total of about 120.

"There's 50 per cent of the student population we are missing out on," he said, adding that even if students do not end up pursuing one of the trades, they will leave having learned transferable skills.

"They're going to own a car, they're going to buy furniture, they're going to have something broken in their home. They're going to want to buy a home, they're going to want to have a basement fixed. They are going to need to know how much wood they need or how much metal they need," Barnes added. "This is what we are teaching kids."

As part of her Women in Tech Day, Gladwish invited 40 Grade 8 girls from feeder schools (Gardiner Public School, Centennial Middle School, Stewarttown Middle School and Silver Creek Public School) to rotate through the tech rooms and experience first-hand what it's like to dive in to the skilled trades.

"I want to spread all of the knowledge that I have learned in these classes to other people because they are such valuable life skills that people are missing out on," she said.

"I want them to know that this is an ever-growing field and there are so many jobs in the future that are going to be in the skilled trades and that we can do everything our male counterparts can."
