

HALTON POLICE AND TIGER JEET SINGH FOUNDATION RAISED CLOSE TO $700,000 DURING HOLIDAYS

Efforts by Halton police and the Tiger Jeet Singh Foundation succeeded in raising close to $700,000 during the holiday season.

In 2018, the Halton police Toys for Tots campaign and the Tiger Jeet Singh Foundation's Miracle on Main initiative joined forces with the goal of assisting more families and children during the holiday season than ever before.

As a result of this combined efforts, nearly $700,000 in toys, cash and gift cards were collected and donated back to the community.

In addition, $30,000 was donated to various elementary schools in support of initiatives related to mental health, literacy, inclusive classrooms, coding, art workshops, classroom technology and breakfast programs. Both Robert Little Public School in Acton and Glen Williams Public School participated in this year's campaign.

The toys collected were donated to families in need of support within the Region of Halton as well as several community organizations including the local Salvation Army chapters, Halton Women's Place, SickKids and McMaster Children's Hospital.

Highlights of this year's campaign included a Region-wide Cram-a-Cruiser event and the annual Miracle on Main celebration that took place on Dec. 11 in Milton.

partners and community organizations once again showed their generous spirit of giving during the holiday season which had a direct impact on this year's overall success," said Halton Police Chief Stephen Tanner.

Tiger Jeet Singh Foundation President, Tiger Jeet Singh Jr., also weighed in on the initiative's success.

"Sickness and poverty do not discriminate, neither should the spirit of giving," he said.

"This has always been our foundation's message. Therefore as you can appreciate I'm so humbled in forming this amazing alliance with Halton police, because as a tag team we'll now be able to share this message with more families than ever before."

Tanner said officers, civilians, auxiliary officers and members of the Tiger Jeet Singh Foundation donated their time and effort by collecting, packing and delivering toys to families in need.

Representatives from Halton police and the Tiger Jeet Singh Foundation said they want to continue their partnership with the goal of continuing to grow the initiative in years to come.
