

SUNSHINE LIST GROWS BY 10 IN HALTON HILLS

BRYAN MYERS
bmyers@metroland.com

The Sunshine List is out, and Halton Hills was a little sunnier in 2018 than it was in 2017.

The list grew by 10 names from 2017 to a total of 66 staff members. The total salaries earned on the Sunshine List increased by almost $1.4 million.

At the top of the list was; Brent Marshall, Town of Halton Hills chief administrative officer, who earned $270,636.28 in 2018, a 7.4 per cent increase from the previous year.

Halton Hill's commissioners topped the list as follows:

- John De Hooge, commissioner and chief of fire services earned $211,437.38;
- Chris Mills, commissioner of transportation and public works earned $193,855.22;
- Jane Diamanti, commissioner of corporate services earned $186,247.22;

- John Linhardt, commissioner of planning and sustainability earned $178,493.25;
- Warren Harris, commissioner of recreation and parks earned $178,493.25.

Compared to 2017, the eight manager positions made the list. Just under a third of staff that made the list were women.

On average, women on the list earned $125,286, men on the list earned an average of $132,729.

The full report of Ontario public service workers earning over $100,000 annually is available at www.ontario.ca.

Helping residents protect their homes from basement flooding

Halton Region continues to make investments to ensure Regional water and wastewater infrastructure provides residents and businesses with a high level of service. This includes $1.2 billion dedicated to system improvements over the next 10 years to ensure public infrastructure is in a state of good repair and resilient to the impacts of climate change.

The Region also continues to provide residents with financial support to help with the cost of downspout and weeping tile disconnections, sump pump and backwater valve installations, and sewer pipe repairs. To apply to the Basement Flooding Subsidy program or learn more about flood prevention, visit halton.ca.
