MAN SOUGHT AFTER $300 WORTH OF BABY FORMULA STOLEN FROM GEORGETOWN STORE

DAVID LEA

HALTON - Halton police are looking for one man following the theft of around $300 worth of baby formula from a Georgetown store on March 22.

At 7:10 p.m., the individual entered the FreshCo, located at 325 Guelph St., and selected six bottles of baby formula.

Police allege that he concealed the formula in a green reusable bag and then left the store without paying.

He set off the store's alarm as he left, at which point he ran to a waiting white-coloured Infiniti with a large muffler and left the area.

While the theft of baby formula may seem strange, police say that since it is expensive and because people need it, the product is a target for shoplifters who will often resell the formula to flea markets, small retail stores or online.

Officers said that anyone who actually needs baby formula and can't afford it can get it from a local food bank.

The suspect is described as white, in his early 20s with long blond wavy hair, approximately five-foot-ten, 175-pounds.

He wore a blue sweater, dark green pants, a baseball cap with red brim and a red logo, and Adidas shoes that were dark in colour with white stripes.

Anyone with information about this incident is asked to contact Halton police at 905-825-4747 ext. 2351 or Crime Stoppers at 1-800-222-TIPS (8477).
