The Georgetown Lions Club made local residents' Easter weekends a bit more hoppy with their latest random act of kindness.

On April 18, members of the club spent the evening at FreshCo in Georgetown handing out gift certificates to local families to help pay for their Easter feasts. In total, the club helped 22 families, with FreshCo providing two of the gift certificates.

This marks the fifth act of kindness in the club's six-month campaign to spread joy in the community.

"This was a very personal way to connect with local residents," said Lion Jack Ruck. "The Georgetown

During the Christmas season, the Lions provided gift cards to Links2Care to help families in need. In January, members handed out Happy Meal coupons to families dining out on a Saturday at McDonald's in Georgetown. In February, the club was at the Georgetown Hospital paying for patients' parking, and last month members helped cover the tab during the breakfast rush at Ares Restaurant.

"The purpose of this program is to touch residents in a positive manner, and we hope those people who receive an act of kindness will pay it forward," said Lions President Vijay Kapila.
