This is the 65th year that the Seniors' dinner has been held, and as a service club, provides one of the highlights of our year of community activities. As usual, we will be taking orders for Brandt Christmas hams at the dinner - the proceeds of which support our Rotary Club's international service projects.

There's no shortage of spooky activities this weekend as Halton Hills residents gear up to celebrate Halloween.

Local children can try out their costumes while getting a head start on trick-or-treating, in both the Acton and Georgetown downtown cores, on Saturday, Oct. 26.

The Downtown Georgetown BIA will host its annual Masquerade on Main, from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. on Main and Mill streets. Participating businesses will be handing out candy, snacks, toys, comic books and many more treats.

The free event will also feature street entertainers sponsored by Paul Armstrong Insurance Brokers Inc., dance performances by Center Stage School of the Arts, pumpkin giveaways and more.

Meanwhile, the Downtown Acton BIA will run its Trick or Treat event on Mill and Main from noon to 2 p.m. Costumed youngsters are invited to visit and receive sweets from store owners. There'll also be haunted houses, free music and activity stations.

dressed up for a good cause can head over to Isaac's Trek for Treats, a family-friendly costume trail run to raise money for Duchenne muscular dystrophy research.

The Acton-based event on Oct. 26 will take participants on the path through the Tanners Drive woodlot on either a one- or two-kilometre run. There'll also be Isaac's Trek, a special 100-metre distance open to all ages and abilities.

The entry fee is $10 for the first child and $5 for each additional child in the family.

A silent auction, indoor children's activities and music kick off at 10 a.m., followed by Isaac's Trek at 10:25 a.m. and the full race at 10:30 a.m.

The event's namesake is Isaac van Asseldonk, a six-year-old Acton boy who's been diagnosed with Duchenne muscular dystrophy.

Q

I am thinking about separating from my spouse. What can I do to prepare for that?

A

Separation is a significant event, emotionally and financially. It is a really good idea to be prepared if you can be. Here are a few points that may be of assistance:

1. Contact a family lawyer to find out in advance your rights and obligations. (We offer a free consultation for that.)
2. Get your emotional supports in order, whether friends or family or others you rely upon.
3. Besides a lawyer, seek out advice from your other professional supports, including your accountant, banker and/or financial advisor.
4. Track down all of your financial documentation relating to your income, assets and liabilities, insurance, even daily costs.
5. Find your will and power(s) of attorney if you have those.
6. Try to have an overall plan in place, which plan may be made with the help of the items above.

Lockyer + Hein LLP is a full service law firm that does a lot of family law. We are happy to meet you for a free consultation at one of our three offices, including 8 Guelph Street, Georgetown, in the Lounsbury Life & Group Insurance Benefits building. Have a great weekend.
