Pressure Injury Prevention Campaign

Pressure injuries (commonly known as bed sores) are changes or breaks in the skin caused by constant pressure, usually over a bony area such as a tailbone or heel. These injuries can cause a lot of discomfort and pain and prevention is key.

This month we launched our #StopThePressure Pressure Injury Prevention Campaign at all three Halton Healthcare hospitals. This educational campaign is designed to raise awareness and start a discussion about the proactive measures our healthcare teams, including patients and their families, can take to help prevent these injuries.

For more information and to watch our video go to www.haltonhealthcare.com and search for Pressure Injury Prevention.
