A Norval roofer has seen his bank account reach new heights.

Alan Hyatt, 58, is $250,000 richer after winning with an Instant Sonic Multiplier.

"I am a regular lottery player and I love playing Instant games," Hyatt, 58, said.

Hyatt discovered his win on a Sunday morning shortly after playing his ticket.

"When I saw the prize amount, my heart started pounding, he said. "I told my sister right away and she couldn't believe it. At first, I planned on keeping the news to myself, but then I ended up texting ev-everyone I knew out of excitement."

While Hyatt said he'd like to travel across Canada one day, he plans to save the money and invest.

"This is going to help my retirement so much," he said.

The Instant Sonic Multiplier is available for $10 and the top prize is $250,000. The odds of winning any prize are one in 3.83.

Hyatt purchased his ticket at Circle K on Guelph St. in Georgetown.
