

Thank you, Maple Lodge Farms!

Georgetown Hospital Foundation is deeply appreciative of the many donations received from the community over the last few months. At $75,000, Maple Lodge Farms Foundation's gift was the largest gift received during this period. A portion of Maple Lodge's gift will be used to support mental health initiatives within Georgetown Hospital, and the balance will be combined with other donations to fund a new low temperature sterilization system for Georgetown Hospital.

"On behalf of all of the patients and families cared for at Georgetown Hospital, I extend our heartfelt thanks to the Maple Lodge Farms Foundation for their generous gift. The contribution towards mental health is so important during this difficult period, and the low temperature sterilization system will be used by the hospital to maintain exemplary levels of infection prevention and control for medical equipment that can't be processed through regular high temperature sterilization. Equipment that helps the hospital with infection prevention is of significant value during these times," said Sandra Taylor, Executive Director of the Georgetown Hospital Foundation.
