Calling all local sweet treat lovers.

After being closed for several years, the Ice Cream Shack in the Glen is under new ownership and back in business.

Nestled beside Kit's Little Kitchen on Main Street in Glen Williams, the quaint locale is serving up Kawartha Dairy ice cream in a variety of tasty flavours, along with nut-free ice cream sandwiches from Terra Cotta Cookies.

Getting the shack open again has been a labour of love for Melissa Therrien, who owns the property with her husband, and Kathryn Dodds, the face behind Kit's Little Kitchen.

"The people in the Glen have been so welcoming and friendly,"

"It's been great."

Since launching in early August, the Ice Cream Shack has been a popular spot, with flavours like Moose Tracks (vanilla ice cream with fudge and peanut butter cups) and raspberry lemon lime sherbet bringing people back for more.

Therrien noted she's hoping to source a good sugar-free ice cream for customers as well.

The two women have big plans to give back to the community, with over $300 being raised at the "Next year, we want to roll out monthly community involvement days," said Therrien, explaining that one day a month, the net proceeds would go toward a certain community group. "It's really important to us."

Those who'd like to treat their friend to a cone can now also buy gift cards for specific items on the menu.

Tuesdays is $2 kid cones day. For more information visit facebook.com/theicecreamshackintheglen.

Notice to Residents:

Parking enforcement set to resume in Halton Hills

Effective September 14, 2020

The Town of Halton Hills will be resuming parking enforcement after a 6-month freeze during COVID-19.

In March, the Town suspended parking enforcement and the parking permit program for municipal lots.

With the anticipated increase to vehicular and pedestrian traffic, regular parking enforcement practices will resume to ensure safe road conditions for all.
