A new concierge service aims to attract big investors to Halton Hills.

The Town of Halton Hills announced the new Business Concierge Program in March, and while it won't help visitors with dining reservations or guided tours, it will streamline the review process for economic development opportunities.

"It's about business attraction and support for our major investments," mayor Rick Bonnette said in a prepared release.

Eligible projects will receive "white glove service" through a single point of contact dedicated to navigating the investment, development, and opening process.

"The Business Concierge Program will be an integral component to supporting the Town's financial health by growing our non-residential assessment base," Bonnette said.

The Town estimates roughly $1 billion in potential investment from more than 20 potential projects are in the works.

Eligible businesses must meet at least one of the following criteria:

- The project comprises a large development in the Premier Gateway, Georgetown Employment Area or Acton Employment Area
- Minimum of 100,000 sq. ft of gross floor area
- High profile and complex proposal
- Major employment (100 or more jobs) and assessment generator (total number of jobs and job density)
- Major office, commercial/retail use, mixed-use or tourism generator
- Large monetary investment
- Key sector aligned with the Town's priority sectors
- Project facing urgent timelines
