MAPLE AVENUE ROAD IMPROVEMENTS COMING

BRYAN MYERS
bmyers@metroland.com

Georgetown residents can expect road construction this spring and summer at the intersection of Maple Avenue and Guelph Street.

Starting in the spring and continuing into the summer, improvements along Maple Avenue include:

- New on-road and off-road active transportation facilities, bike lanes on road and a multi-use path off road, between Main Street and Mountainview Road.
- Turn-lane modifications and reconstruction of the signalized intersection at Maple Avenue and Guelph Street.
- Road resurfacing and maintenance from Guelph Street to Mountainview Road.
- Lighting to accommodate new and existing infrastructure.

"Ongoing road work is part of the town's annual pavement management plan and capital works construction program are designed to renew and improve infrastructure across Halton Hills," Mayor Rick Bonnette said. "We do our best to minimize traffic impacts however."

Traffic closures can be expected during construction.

Residents can access detailed information, including maps of the proposed construction area and connect with town staff about the Maple Avenue project on the town's engagement platform, Let's Talk Halton Hills.

Should projects be delayed due to weather or directions from the provincial or federal government in relation to COVID-19, residents will receive a hand-delivered notice explaining details of the delay.
