

Embracing Diversity

A multi-coloured crosswalk, located adjacent to the Acton Branch of the Library, represents the Town's commitment to embracing diversity and inclusion and shows support for Halton Hills 2SLGBTQ+ residents, according to a statement on the Town's website. (From left) Halton Hills Public Library chief librarian Melanie Southern, Mayor Rick Bonnette, councillors Jon Hurst, Jane Fogal and Mike Albano, along with local transgender youth Stella Skinner celebrate the opening of downtown Acton's first rainbow crosswalk in June of this year. The first rainbow crosswalk in Halton Hills was installed in 2020 at the intersection of Market and Church Streets in Georgetown. – Graham Paine, Metroland photo

Acton Farmers' Market

Acton Farmers' Market brings local flavours and goods to shoppers Thursdays from the beginning of June to the first week of October. It's open for business in downtown Acton from 4 to 7 p.m. and features local produce from vendors like Emile Hadi of Country Crops Produce and hand-crafted items like those sold by Joe Snook at his Joe's Crafts booth. During market season it's easy to shop locally and support the community. Graham Paine, Metroland photos

Book your family portraits and receive an 8x10" print for FREE ($25 value)
We also offer gift cards!

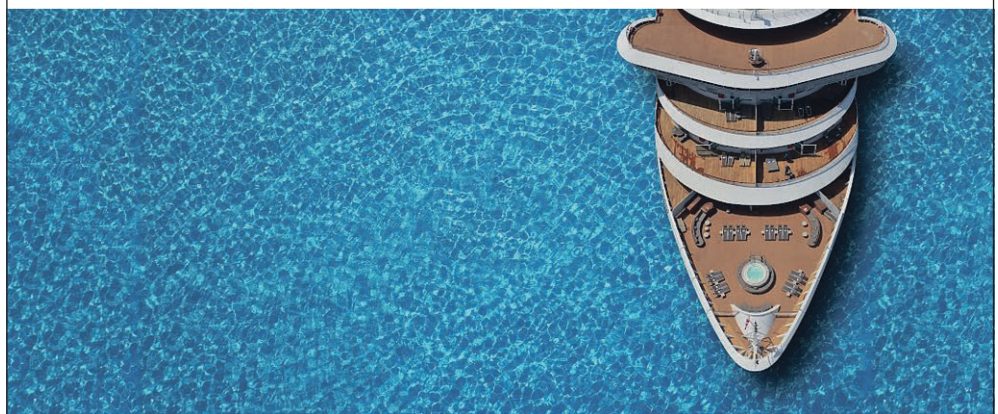

Providing Business and Family Photography in the Halton Region.

Capturing Your Moments!

GREG COMAN PHOTOGRAPHY

www.gregcoman.com info@gregcoman.com 647-204-2067

Travel is Back.

More than ever, it matters who you travel with.

378 Mountainview Road South, Georgetown
365 302 2011

500248@expediacruz.com