MILTON FILM FESTIVAL RETURNS WITH SCREENINGS IN GEORGETOWN

The Milton Film Festival is returning to in-person screenings for its ninth year. With its traditional home at the FirstOntario Arts Centre Milton being closed, the festival will hold screenings at its temporary home, the John Elliott Theatre in Georgetown.

The festival opens Jan. 29 with a week of online viewing, which will be followed by three days of in-person screenings starting Feb. 4.

That will also include the festival's short film program, audience question and answers, interviews and special guests.

There are four ticket packages available: any four online films ($45); all five theatre screenings

Graham Paine/Metroland

Tickets are now available for the 2022 Milton Film Festival.

($60), all online films ($90), all online and theatre films ($135). Ticket packages can be purchased at milton-filmfest9.eventive.org/passes/buy.
