June was Seniors Month, with a variety of events happening in Acton including an afternoon concert by Jessica Skinner.

At Hillsview Active Living Centre, 79 members enjoyed the family breakfast on June 28. I happened to be babysitting my great-grandchildren that day, so they came too and were very excited to be having breakfast with us.

Mayor Rick Bonnette was the guest speaker, and reminisced about when a group of seniors first approached council to start a senior centre and how the Golden Age group started originally in the old arena in the park.

The last social dinner and dance was a great success. Patrons enjoyed chicken from Swiss Chalet and the DJ had everyone up dancing.

Looking for puzzles or books for the cottage? We are having a great sale on Saturday, Aug. 13, from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. There is also a barbecue. With hot dogs, hamburgers and drinks. We are accepting donations of adults and children's books, and puzzles prior to the day.

If you are looking to get out of the heat, movies are shown several times a month.

Don't forget to pick up a copy of the Hillsview newsletter at the Acton Centre on Queen Street East adjoining the arena, the Acton Library or Hillsview Georgetown.

We look forward to seeing you at the Acton Leathertown Festival on Aug. 14. We will have a booth in our usual spot with information outside the Trinity United Church.

Julie Conroy is the public relations director for Hillsview Active Living Centre Acton. She can be reached at hillsviewacton@gmail.com.

Halton Hills Stormwater Master Plan

The Town of Halton Hills has initiated a study to undertake a Stormwater Master Plan to ensure stormwater (rainfall and snowmelt) is properly managed and planned for. The project team has completed the study area characterization, initial analysis and hydraulic modelling, and assessment of the existing stormwater management system.

Visit the Stormwater Management Master Plan project page on letstalkhaltonhills.ca to watch a brief presentation on the project progress to-date, view background materials and connect with Town staff about the project.
