PROJECT WILL RUN INTO FALL

The Town of Halton Hills is warning of some significant construction in an already-busy part of town.

The town said it's planning to improve southbound and northbound turn lane functionality on Mill Street at Guelph Street "to improve the intersection's level of service."

A full reconstruction of the traffic signals infrastructure will also take place, the town stated in a release.

Motorists should expect intermittent lane closures at Guelph and Mill streets this summer and early fall.

This project, which started July 11 and will run to October, "will provide safe and reliable transportation ensuring the existing road network will continue to function efficiently. This will also improve the functionality of the pedestrian infrastructure and enhance the safety for pedestrians," the town said in the statement.

Expect temporary lane closures to be in place for the duration of the project.
