Credit Valley Conservation recently handed out its Friends of Credit Conservation awards.

LOCAL COMPANY RECEIVES CONSERVATION AWARD

Diamond Tree Care has received a corporate leadership award from Credit Valley Conservation.

The Georgetown company was honoured as part of the Friends of Credit Conservation Awards. It received the award for its commitment to nature and the Students for Stormwater project, sourcing renewable building materials to develop rain gardens at schools.

Their work not only enhanced the school grounds, but also provided space for students to participate in hands-on environmental learning.

Also honoured was John Monczka, who received an outstanding volunteer award. Monczka showed his passion for the environment through the Bring Back the Brookies and his riverbank clean-up projects for the Trout Unlimited Greg Clark chapter.

The Credit Valley Trail Indigenous Roundtable received the environmental awareness for their dedication to create Indigenous placemaking features and program opportunities along the Credit Valley Trail.

The group is made up of community members and Elders from several Indigenous nations in Canada, and has been working to honour Indigenous heritage and present-day culture through initiatives on the Credit Valley Trail.
