Two men are facing a range of weapons charges in connection with a highway stop in Halton last week.

The OPP responded to a call of "someone pointing a gun" on Highway 401, the force tweeted on August 9.

Officers said they located a vehicle on Highway 401 and Trafalgar Road and recovered a replica AR-15 air-soft rifle, revolver style pellet gun, brass knuckles, buck knife and fentanyl.

A

If I separate and have a verbal understanding with my former spouse dealing with the children do we need a lawyer?

Our office has recently had files where verbal agreements explode and the client comes in saying but we agreed, so we can't enforce this. The legal expression is "verbal agreements are worth the paper they are written on." If issues surrounding the children are not written down, misunderstandings can occur, couples start disagreeing. Remember you separated for a reason. If you have an agreement in writing, even if you draw up something yourself it is better than a verbal understanding. Courts look at written agreements and start from there when determining what is best for the children.
