ONLINE TRANSACTION ALLEGEDLY TURNS INTO ROBBERY: POLICE

DAVID LEA
dlea@metroland.com

Halton police are investigating an online transaction that allegedly resulted in a robbery in Georgetown on Friday, Oct. 7.

The victim was reportedly selling a phone online and had arranged for the would-be buyer to pick the device up at a Guelph St., residence, police said.

At around 10:45 p.m., two men attended the dwelling, but instead of paying for the phone it's alleged they attempted to grab it and run away.

Police say a struggle ensued, during which it's alleged the victim was punched by one of the men, who then fled in a vehicle with the phone.

The suspects are described as Black, with slim builds and are 5-foot-9 to 5-foot-10.

One man wore a black top and red pants.

The second individual wore a black hat and was dressed all in black.

A third suspect may have been waiting in the vehicle.

Halton police have previously noted they have a Buy & Sell Exchange Zone in the visitor parking lot of the Oakville station at 95 Oak Walk Dr.

The area is under video surveillance.

Officers said those unable to make it to the zone for their prearranged transactions should consider completing them in well-lit, public and popular locations to avoid becoming a victim of crime.

Anyone with information about this incident is asked to contact Halton police at 905-825-4747 or Crime Stoppers at 1-800-222-TIPS (8477) or www.haltoncrimestoppers.ca.
