As far as birthday gifts go, the one Judy Faulhafer received is tough to beat.

Faulhafer's friends gave her a Lotto Max ticket for the Sept. 9 draw. That ticket matched the final six of seven Encore numbers in order, earning the Georgetown woman a $100,000 prize.

"I called my one friend who gave me the ticket and they thought something was wrong because I was crying," she said. "When I told them, they started to cry too. It was a special moment to share with my friends."

Faulhafer said the win will have an incredible impact on her life.

"This win will go a long way for my financial freedom," she said. "I will pay bills and treat my wonderful friends to a nice dinner as a thank you for this amazing gift."

Faulhafer has been a regular lottery player for more than 25 years but said "I actually never add Encore."

The winning ticket was purchased at Esso on Sykes Street in Meaford.

SPECIAL GUEST

In recognition of the National Day of Truth and Reconciliation, St. John's United Church of Georgetown and Glen Williams welcomed guest speaker Laura Lee Campbell (also known by her Ojibwe name, Abby-Don-Okee). The church's Social Justice and Outreach Committee is donating $400 to mission 1JustCity and invited individual members to add to this donation. Here, Campbell (second from left) joins church members Sue Sibley, Lorraine Dennis and Jennifer Cardwell.
