

WINTERLIT RETURNS TO CONSERVATION HALTON PARK

The award-winning winter event Winterlit is back.

The "enchanting" winter experience runs from Dec. 28 to Feb. 20 on select evenings at Mountsberg Conservation Area.

Now in its third year, visitors can once again enjoy a magical, illuminated walk through the woods, enjoy the upcycled art installations and messages of hope along the trails, and relax by the fire.

Among the new art installations, there are pieces from Wyandot artist Catherine Tamaro, creations made of recycled materials by Conservation Halton staff, and an original music score composed by students from the faculty of music at Wilfrid Laurier University.

The park also offers guided Owl Prowls on Jan. 6, 7, 13, and 14 and Feb. 3 and 4, where visitors can meet one the park's resident owls before embarking on a little adventure through owl territory. Passes for the walks are limited.

Winterlit is an enchanting experience that is centred on sustainable tourism and connecting people with nature through art, and has won the Responsible Tourism Award from the Hamilton Halton Brant Winterlit is back at Mountsberg Conservation Area on select evenings from Dec. 28 until Feb. 20.

Regional Tourism Association in 2021, Conservation Halton says.

"Materials selected for this experience are recycled, upcycled and energy efficient. Electric battery packs are used rather than gas generators to power remote parts of the trail, and most of the wood elements used on the trail have been repurposed - many created from ash trees removed from Conservation Halton parks due to the impact of an invasive insect called the Emerald Ash Borer," the news release says.

Winterlit is open Thursday to Sunday from 5:30 p.m. to 10:30 p.m. Food and hot beverages are available for purchase. The event also features a small vendor marketplace and local craft breweries and wineries on select weekends.

Tickets are available now and can be purchased online at conservationhalton.ca/winterlit.
