Mission director at local church

"Few Executive Directors wear their hair in a pony tail and fewer still are Ministers," Pastor David Caldwell of Georgetown said while describing the man who will be guest speaker at a morning church service in Georgetown on Sunday.

"When you add to these characteristics, a leather jacket, a motorcycle, the stature of a biker and a heart like Mother Theresa's, you will begin to get a picture of Rick Tobias, Executive Director of Yonge Street Mission (YSM)," the pastor added.

Tobias will be guest speaker at Mountainview Baptist Church, Sunday at 11 a.m. He'll talk about the Mission's work which began almost 100 years ago.

"The Mission has always been on the cutting edge of ministry in the inner city," Pastor Caldwell observed. "And for their creativity and relevance, they've often taken criticism from the 'Christian community.'"

Interested residents of Georgetown and area are welcome to attend the service. Those interested in staying for a luncheon discussion following the talk are asked to bring a bag lunch.

"The Love In Christ Food Bank located at the (Mountainview Baptist) church and the church, itself, hope to gain new insight in battling poverty," from the YSM director, Pastor Caldwell said.
