Acton ready Terry Fox Run top money raiser

a day. Terry was forced to stop just outside Thunder Bay on Sept. 1, 1980. The cancer had spread to his lungs.

Terry died a national hero on June 28, 1981, capturing the hearts of millions in his quest to help fund cancer research and one day, to find a cure. It was one month before his 23rd birthday.

The Terry Fox run is now hailed as the largest single-day fundraiser for cancer research in the world. In 1991, International Runs were held in 33 countries. The total funds raised globally, as of this year, are over $100,000,000.

Mayor Russ Miller will officially declare the Acton run open at 8 a.m. Participants can arrive anytime between 8 a.m. and 3 p.m. and do part or all of the 25 laps around the track.

Several prizes are available for participants to win by random draw: dinner for two at Jack Tanners, two Toronto Blue Jay tickets, four games of miniature golf at Tuitman's and several Blue Jay souvenirs, including hats, water bottles, baseball cards and duffel bags.

There will also be a food booth. Terry Fox T-shirts and buttons will be on sale, with all proceeds going directly to the cancer cause.

Pledge forms are available in Georgetown at all banks (except the Toronto Dominion), Goodlets, the Civic Centre and the Cultural Centre and in Acton at all banks, the Credit Union, all variety stores and all schools. For more information contact organizer Jon Hurst at 853-2015.

In Terry's words: "I guess that one of the most important things

I've learned is that nothing is ever completely bad. Even cancer.

"It has made me a better person. It has given me courage and a sense of purpose I never had before. But you don't have to do like I did...wait until you lose a leg or get some awful disease, before you take the time to find out what kind of stuff you're really made of. You can start now. Anybody can."
