Every second counts during a fire. Put address numbers clearly on your house and mailbox where firefighters can see them.

Install a light above your house numbers and use large, plain numbers - not hard-to-read lettering.

Use colours that contrast, such as black and white. Whether you live in the city or in the country, you should identify your property clearly.

Remember, if we can't find you, we can't help you. This is a message from your local fire department.
