"The Magic of Christmas." The snow-covered street bustles with holiday activity. It is Christmas Eve, and passers-by pause to marvel at the welcoming light that radiates from the heart of a magnificent Victorian home. This glowing scene of Christmas past is the vision of Thomas Kinkade, Painter of Light™, now realized on porcelain. 22k gold rim. 20.9 cm.

"Christmas Homecoming." A festively decorated tree, its candles flickering through the bay window of a graceful Victorian home, is just one of the sights welcoming family and friends to this heartwarming holiday celebration, depicted in the artwork of Carole Black. Crafted on fine Pickard china. 20.9 cm.

Collectible Porcelain Dolls by Ashton Drake Gallery

"Brian" happily dreams of a career as a big-league hockey player. He's the first doll based on original artwork by Canadian artist Stewart Sherwood, and first in the Winterfest collection. "Brian's" hand-painted porcelain face glows with excitement. His gear includes a zip-up jacket, knitted hat, scarf and mittens, wooden hockey stick, and lace-up skates. With doll stand. Actual size is 41 cm. high (on skates).

"Michelle." An important issue in the Winterfest collection, "Michelle" imagines herself as an Olympic figure skater. True to the original artwork of Stewart Sherwood, "Michelle's" hand-painted porcelain face is blushed as if from the cold, and her hand-set eyes have a dreamy sparkle. She's all bundled up in pastel winterwear, and has lace-up leatherlike skates. Actual size is 21 cm., seated.
