Miller disheartened by decision

Oakville when the short list was announced.

Environment Minister Ruth Grier was a guest speaker at the workshop but refused to comment on sites which made the short list even though a media representative asked her to do so during a press conference.

Grier said it was up to the IWA to make that announcement. Shortly afterward, she left the workshop before media representatives had an opportunity to question her about the landfill site short list.

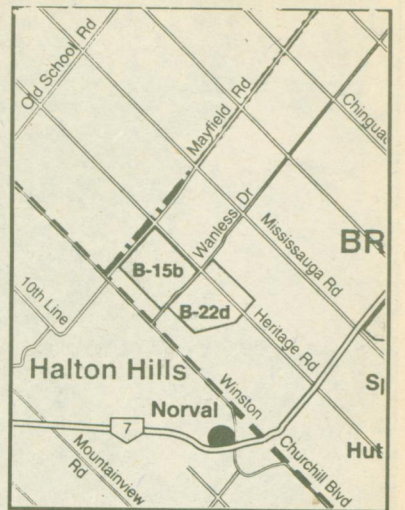

Mayor Miller was clearly disheartened by the decision.

"It's unfair, but we're going to have to find money" to fight the possible selection of one of the Norval area sites as a preferred site for the Peel landfill, he said.

Pointing to taxpayers' dollars which were used to fight the recent proposal by a private operator to locate a landfill in the Acton quarry, the mayor said, "it's bloody criminal" that Halton Hills taxpayers will be called upon again to oppose yet another landfill proposal.

"If I was a taxpayer, I would be thinking, 'This is so unfair. Why the hell do I live here?'" Miller added.

Nevertheless, Mayor Miller vowed that Halton Hills will continue to fight the location of a landfill on its eastern boundary. Asked if there was any way that the sites might be deleted from the short list, he replied, "We'll change it if we can. We'll look and see if we can find a way."

Town administrator Dan Costea, who also attended the GTA workshop, said town staff will soon be meeting with their solicitor to discuss strategy.

"Our solicitor is already looking at the decision," he commented.

The mayor said it's important that the town react quickly and effectively because the IWA is scheduled to announce its preferred site next May. After the search is narrowed down to one site, an Environmental Assessment will be held.

Before the final selection is made, Halton North MPP Noel Duignan has pledged that Halton Hills residents will receive "a full hearing" from the IWA on the effects of locating a landfill on one of the Norval area sites.

"Accordingly, I am requesting a meeting with Walter Pitman, chair of the IWA Board of Directors, with representation from the citizens of Halton including the Town of Halton Hills and the Region so that our concerns can be fully aired," a press release from Duignan's office stated.
